German Cruiser Sunk—
Sinking of the German protected cruiser Fraueniob by a submarine of the entente allies is semi-officially announced in Petrograd, London dispatches state. The Frauenioh, a versel 228 feet in length and of 2762 tons, carried a crew of 276 men.

The Italians are vigorously pressing their attack on Gerlia. Progress for the Italian forces on the Carso plateau also is claimed.

Allied Submarine Wrecks Hostile Warship; Fate of Crew Is Unknown.

ONDON, Eng., Nov. 26.—The Ger-man protected cruiser Fauenlob man protected craiser Fauenico has been sunk by a submarine of the enteste allies, according to a semi-official announcement made at Pathograd, says a dispatch to the Central News agency.

The Franchiob is reported to have been sent to the bottom in the same locality where the German protected craiser Undine, a sister ship of the Franchioh, was lost.

The Franchiob carried a crew of 272 men, the fate of whom is not disclosed in the announcements thus far received. It is presumed that some disposition for their safety was made, although it would hardly be possible for a submarine to care for so many. It is believed they might be safeguarded in their boats, pending the arrival of larger rescuing vessels.

A dispatch published in the Politiken of Copenhagen on November II, said a report had been received that the Oranchio had been sunk off the south coast of Sweden.
